is negligible compared to the reputational lift. FedEx permits a logo in the upper-right corner of the label, provided it does not obscure the barcode or critical address fields. Many users find that a 1-inch wide PNG preserves clarity while keeping the overall label within FedEx's printable area. While the primary label background must remain white for scanner compatibility, you can introduce brand colors in borders or the "Ship From" line. A subtle gray or light-blue underline is enough to catch the eye without triggering readability issues. FedEx's online shipping tool offers an "additional instructions" section. Embedding a short tagline such as "Thank you for supporting local artisans" can enhance the unboxing experience. Just keep the text under 30 characters to avoid truncation. The 1D barcode that FedEx uses is generated automatically; however, you can choose between Code 128 or Code 39 if your internal system requires a specific format. Ensure the chosen format is supported by FedEx's scanning equipment—most carriers accept both. Shipping a package? Where you put
